DETAILED ACTION

Response to Appeal Brief

This action is in response to the Appeal Brief mailed July 23, 2002.
 Claims 1-5 are pending. Examiner regrets the untimely reopening of this case but feels it is necessary to put the action in a better form of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103(a)

- 2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 3. Claims 1 and 3-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hurditch et al. (U.S. 5,952,073).
- 4. Hurditch discloses a recordable medium comprising a protective layer, a reflective layer in proximity to the protective layer, a recording layer with a dye composition in proximity to the reflective layer and a transparent substrate on which the recording layer is formed (column 7, lines 10-16) where the recordable medium comprises a dye layer (column 7, line 64). Hurditch discloses the recording layer is formed by dissolving the dye mixture in a coating solvent at 2-10% by weight of the total components in the solution (column 10, lines 26-29) and typical organic solvents for use with the dye mixtures comprising diacetone alcohol (column 10, lines 44-45) and spin coating (column 10, lines 48-49). The reference discloses the dye layer may be optionally dried (column 11, line 8) meaning the dye layer does not necessarily have to undergo a drying treatment. Hurditch does not explicitly disclose the organic dye layer in an amount of 2 to 15% by weight, however the reference does disclose an amount of 2 to 10% by weight (column 10, lines 26-29). Even though Hurditch does not disclose the solvent in an amount up to 15%, the solvent range is optimizable because it affects the reflecting layer of the recording medium. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to optimize the components because discovering an optimum or workable range involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233 and also see In re Boesch 205 USPQ 215.

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 103(a)

- 5. Claims 2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hurditch et al. (U.S. 5,952,073) in view of Cunningham et al (U.S. 5,547,728).
- 6. Hurditch is relied upon for claims 1 and 3-4. Hurditch does not disclose the rotating speed for the spin coating. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to find the optimum rotating speed in order to provide optimal working conditions. Hurditch also does not disclose the organic solvent as 2,2,3,3-tetrafluoro-1-propanol.

Cunningham teaches an optical recording element having a transparent substrate, a recording layer and a light reflecting layer (abstract) and a protective layer over the reflective layer (column 10, line 65). Cunningham teaches the use of coating solvents such as 2,2,3,3-tetrafluoro-propanol. Hurditch and Cunningham are analogous art because they are from the same field of recording medium. It would have been obvious to combine the organic solvent, 2,2,3,3-tetrafluoro-propanol, as a solvent for the dye layer of Hurditch because Cunningham teaches that solvents such as 2,2,3,3-tetrafluoro-propanol is selected for its minimal effect on the substrate.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments of rejection under 35USC 102(e) have been fully considered but are unpersuasive. Applicant states, "there is no indication in the reference that the reflective layer is applied to a dye layer whereby no drying step has occurred on the dye layer. That is Hurditch et al. '073 does not disclose, teach or suggest the absence of a drying step." Examiner respectfully disagrees. Applicant is reading into what the reference is implying. The reference specifically teaches "the dye layer may be optionally dried" meaning that the layer does not have to be dried.

Applicant further argues that "Hurditch et al. '073 fails to disclose, teach or suggest a content of the organic solvent in the organic dye layer." Examiner disagrees, Hurditch et al. '073 discloses the recording layer is formed by dissolving the dye mixture in a coating solvent and teaches organic solvents for use with the dye mixtures (column 10, lines 26-45) which teaches a content of the organic solvent in the organic dye layer. Regarding the case law, the examiner does not find the case relevant (Verdegall Bros. V. Union Oil Co. of Calif.). Every feature is shown by Hurditch.

Applicant's arguments of rejection under 35USC 103(a) have been fully considered but are unpersuasive. Applicant fails to disclose reasons why Hurditch in view of Cunningham et al. therefore the rejection is upheld.
